Dear Bill:

The Port Everglades Pilots have been using the Algae-X unit for almost two years, and we can honestly say it works.

The pilot business is a 24/7-day operation, so engine maintenance and boat reliability is a must. We use in excess of 50,000 gallons of diesel fuel each year in our pilot boats. We have found that the fuel filters and fuel are much cleaner, which makes for more efficient engine operation. We rarely have injector or other fuel related problems.

In the past, the standing operating procedure for bad fuel was either get ride of it or try to filter it through an external filter, which did not work. The Algae-X unit with the catalyst is the answer to fuel problems.

I highly recommend Algae-X for both commercial and pleasure boats.

Thanks again for your assistance and a great product.

Respectfully,
