Dear Scott,

Just thought you might like to know our experience with the Algae-X system that we bought from you last Fall.

If you remember, we had fuel problems coming in from offshore, to the extent that it almost completely shut us down several times. At the time we were 30 miles from the pass. We alternately lost one engine and then the other, had all sorts of trouble maintaining RPMs and were extremely concerned whether or not we would make it. We finally came under the bridge, lost an engine, got it started and limped home.

After pursuing several very expensive options including pumping out the tanks, flushing them, cleaning them, and hoping for the best, we settled on the Algae-X solution which we purchased from you. This happened after I had a long conversation with Don Schramm, a technical guy from Algae-X. I think you probably know him.

We installed the system, changed fuel filters and followed his instructions, using the Algae-X catalyst, filling with fresh fuel (we left the old fuel in the tank), and ran the boat on several short sea trials. We then bit the bullet and ran 60 miles offshore. The boat performed magnificently. You would never know we had any fuel problems at all. I found that it smoked less, ran well, maintained RPMs and it was as if there was never anything wrong. We have been offshore several times since with no problems.

Based on my experience, I would recommend the Algae-X system to anyone with diesels, especially those who, like myself, must put their boat in storage for long periods of time. If you have any questions about my experience, let me know the next time I'm in the store.
